What do you like about Fantasy Radio?

- Fantasy Radio is a reliable Broadcaster. As a Music Radio listener from Easter Sunday 1964 and the beginning of the Offshore Era, through Radio Northsea International and Laser 558, I am a Presenter/Show follower, rather than a Station loyal listener. I have a collection of Internet pre-set Community Stations, Fantasy features strongly amongst them because of the reliable delivery of my chosen programmes to which I am pleased to contribute content. This involvement is always appreciated, a two way relationship.
- The presenters and the different music from the decades.
- Your line up of presenters and variety of shows is stronger than ever.
- Dear Fantasy Radio, short answer - everything. Your presenters are a pretty clever bunch, always thoroughly entertaining, absolutely genuine, and very good company. Great music alone doesn't make a great radio station. A genuine thank you to 97 FM. p.s. and thanks for all the work that is done off-air to keep the station open! Including of course the Youth Opportunity lads who search the Fantasy archives for obscure requests, and the canteen staff who selflessly provide T and biscuits.

What do you dislike about Fantasy Radio?

- Rather than dislikes, of which I have none, an improvement would be a Listen Again feature, to enable programmes missed due to other commitments to be heard at a later date. (Apple FM Taunton, Abbey 104 Sherborne, and Manx Radio all provide this feature)
- There's nothing I dislike, it's good as it is.
- Is it possible for you to provide news services from a source other than Sky? Their fixation with events in the USA grates as does their insistence on telling us what Donald Trump has said almost daily and then playing a sound bite of him saying it. We were not subjected to this while Joe Biden was President. There are far more important things happening in Europe and elsewhere in the world which deserve reporting ahead of matters thousands of miles across the Atlantic. I appreciate you have a limited number of choices but let's try to have a news source which recognises this.
- Nowt.

Any other comments?

- I have never understood why "Corporate" presenters are paid six figure sums to deliver what the Fantasy Team easily provides through their enthusiasm for Radio. In other words "The salary paid, but not earned, is inversely proportional to the quality of the presenter". Well done for that!
- I listen through the Radioplayer app because I'm in Merseyside, England.
- The occasions on which your sports bulletins are out of date and refer to forthcoming events which have already taken place have diminished to the very occasional, but please do try to ensure the up to date bulletin is played.
- There's a DTC project just been launched to create a Devizes tapestry made from individual panels representing various businesses, groups, and events. I reckon the Fantasy Radio logo really ought to be included!
